Korea US Wind 2021

Following the success of the Korea Trade-Investment Promotion Agency's (KOTRA) "Korea-Denmark Offshore Wind Project Partnership" in March of 2021, KOTRA is proud to announce the first bilateral Korea-US Wind Conference (KUW 2021) will be taking place this fall.

This virtual event will bring together various government bodies, not-for-profit entities, and global businesses from Korea and the US to present each country's respective wind energy industries. For two weeks following the event, KOTRA will be hosting virtual meetings between attendees from both countries to discuss potential collaborative business opportunities in the offshore wind industry. KOTRA will work with each individual attendee to match and connect them to the most promising partners and opportunities abroad.

This conference hopes to bring together the most promising US businesses and government agencies with their Korean counterparts, who are all on a mission to make the world less reliant on fossil fuels and more dependent on renewable wind energy.

KUW 2021 and subsequent meetings are free to attend, however registration and approval from KOTRA is required.
